The Classman.

"The Classman," by Thomas Dixon, Jr., will play a return engagement at the Willis Wood, theatre, Kansas City, beginning Sunday night February 17, for one week with Wednesday and Saturday matinees. The phenomenal success of this remarkable play last season was such that it is generally referred to as the most talked of play during the past forty years. Dealing as it does with probably the most dramatic period in American history, it is permeated with an emotional interest which carries its appeal to both North and South, having been witnessed with almost frantic enthusiasm in all of the large cities of both sections. Whether the spectator agrees or disagrees with the author's views on the negro question has no influence on the enjoyment of the play as a play. Every auditor is held firmly in the grip of the thrilling situations founded on the facts of history. The era depicted is that of Reconstruction in the South, when the members of the Ku Klux Klan wrested the government of the Southern States from the illiterate negroes and the rapacious Carpetbaggers. The mysterious Klan is shown upon the stage, its habit and ceremonial revealed, in a picturesque and awe-inspiring manner. Through the drama runs the thread of a delightful love story between a gallant Southern cavalier and a beautiful daughter of the North, and the whole is brightened by a bonafide supply of genuine, old-fashioned, darker fun. The many advance orders received for seats indicate a record-breaking run. "The Classman" during this engagement at the Willis Wood and out of town patrons are strongly advised to order their tickets well in advance.

For Stomach Sufferers.

Don't Use Any Remedy That Keeps Its Formula a Secret.

People who are troubled with stomach weakness cannot afford to use any remedy unless they know what it contains.

Mi-on-a is not a mere digestive giving only temporary relief, but a specific for all disorders of the digestive organs, and so effects a permanent cure for stomach troubles.

Your physician will tell you that nothing is better than a combination of chemically pure bismuth subgallate to allay any inflammation of the stomach and bowels, certain oxalate to strengthen the stomach nerves; sodium bi-carbonate, which neutralizes the poisonous acids that are present in stomach troubles; and nux vomica which will restore vigor to the digestive organs and tone the whole nervous system.

This combination is found only in Mi-on-a stomach tablets, and it so rarely fails to strengthen the digestive system and cure all forms of stomach disorders, that Crenshaw & Young sell the remedy under a guarantee to refund the money unless it cures.

If you suffer from indigestion, distress after eating, specks before the eyes, headaches, pains in the back and side, emaciation, bloating, nervousness, sleeplessness, or any of the other symptoms of stomach troubles, begin the use of Mi-on-a stomach tablets at once. Crenshaw & Young sell them in 50c boxes with a guarantee to refund money unless they cure.

Unauthorized.
"But, colonel," urged the reporter for the Morning Whooper, "when a man has made a great success in life as you have, he becomes in one sense of the term public property. You owe it to posterity, at least, to tell the story of your remarkable career." "I owe anything to posterity," said the financial magnate, "posterity will have to present its bill in person, and not through a collection agency. Good morning."

London Professor Gives Twelve Statutes Which Must Be Followed If Longevity Is Desired.

Prof. Boyd Laynard, of London, England's leading author of works on hygiene, gives 12 rules in the New York World, for those who desire to live a healthy and long life:

1. Avoid every kind of excess, especially in eating and drinking.
2. Do not live to eat. Select those aliments most suitable for nourishing the body and not those likely to impair it.
3. Look upon fresh air as your best friend. Inhale its life-giving oxygen as much as possible during the day, while at night sleep with the bedroom window open at the top for a space of at least four or five inches. Follow this out even in the depth of winter. It is one of the great secrets of long life.
4. Be clean both in mind and body. "Cleanliness is next to godliness." It is a fortification against disease.
5. Worry not nor grieve. This advice may seem but cold philosophy and to be easier to give than to follow; nevertheless, I have known persons of a worrying disposition almost entirely to break themselves of it by a simple effort of the will. Worry kills.
6. Learn to love work and hate indolence. The lazy man never becomes a centenarian.
7. Have a hobby. A man with a hobby will never die of senile decay. He has always something to occupy either mind or body; therefore they remain fresh and vigorous.
8. Take regular exercise in the open air, but avoid over exertion.
9. Keep regular hours, and insure sufficient sleep.
10. Beware of passion. Remember that every outbreak shortens life to a certain degree, while occasionally it is fatal.
11. Have an object in life. A man who has no purpose to live for rarely lives long.
12. Seek a good partner in life, but not too early.

KISS, AS SCIENCE SEES IT.

Unromantic Sons of Research Have Definition Which Takes Away Half Its Beauty.

What we call a kiss (according to an unromantic scientist) is the contraction of a muscle known as the orbicularis oris, which surrounds the mouth. The muscle is first contracted and then relaxed, the upper lip being at the same time lifted by the two "levator" muscles at each corner of the mouth, while the lower lip is drawn down by the two corresponding "depressor" muscles.

Even more depressing is it to learn that the origin of the kiss is probably nothing more poetic than the lick which the monkey or some other animal bestows upon its offspring. Kissing, however, is not necessarily an instinct with all human beings, for some races of men never practice it. Among these are the Maoris of New Zealand, the Eskimo, the Papuans, and the Australian "black fellows."

It might be argued from this that the kiss is essentially a civilized institution. And certainly the argument would receive support in the fact that the Japanese have lately adopted kissing among other customs of civilization.

An Easy One.
"I don't like to say such long prayers," said a little girl the other night; "I want to say a nice short one like nursery does." "What kind does nursery say?" inquired her mother. "Oh, she just says: 'Oh, Lord, why do I have to get up?'"—Short Stories.
